

J. L. Worden and Mrs. Perry Wed in Jersey City Church

Marriage Announcement the First Information That Bridegroom Had Been Divorced.

Mrs. Louisa Perry of 45 East Fifty-first street was married yesterday to Mr. J. Lorimer Worden in the Family Memorial Church in Jersey City by the Rev. Dr. R. B. Abbott. The announcement of the wedding gave the first definite information that Mr. Worden and his first wife, who was Mrs. Angela Mills Cutting, had been divorced. All that could be learned was that Mr. Worden's first wife obtained a decree recently. The bride's first husband was Mr. Henry Harriman Perry, Jr., in the absence in Europe of Mrs. George Bowen de Long, the mother of the couple, guests at the wedding were limited to members of the two families. They were the bride's two small sons, Richard Pierrepont and William Haggan Perry; Mr. Louis T. Haggan, the bride's uncle; Mrs. Terri Haggan, her cousin; Mrs. Bert All Louisa, her brother; Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell, brother-in-law and sister of Mr. Worden, and the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell.

At a picturesque ceremony in St. Mark's Church, Mt. Kisco, Miss Fanny Taylor Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark Baldwin of 122 East Seventy-eighth street and Shallow Brook Farm, Mt. Kisco, was married yesterday to Mr. William Payne Thompson, son of the late Major and Mrs. Ralph J. Thompson and nephew of William Payne Thompson. A large turnout followed the ceremony. The bride, who was introduced to society in 1917, is a member of the young set and of the Junior League. Mr. Thompson and his bride will pass the autumn and part of the winter in the West. On their return they will live at Brookline, Mass. The bride's attendants were Miss Gertrude Davidson, Mrs. Herbert Bauermeier, best man, and the Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Blake, after a wedding trip, will live at 440 Van Cortlandt Park Avenue, Yonkers. Mr. Blake served in the navy during the war. Mr. Davidson is a member of the staff of THE SUN and NEW YORK HERALD.

A special train from the Grand Central Terminal took guests to the ceremony, performed by the Rev. H. Adey Prichard, rector of the church, and the Rev. Dr. Thayer, head master of St. Mark's School, which the bride's groom attended before he went to Harvard, in 1917. Fastened to the point lace bodice of the white satin dress worn by the bride was a diamond and sapphire pin, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Her chief attendant, Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, who was Miss Ethel M. B. Hartman, was the bride's maid of honor, and were Mrs. W. Alston Pease, Southampton bride of August; Miss Katherine Emmet, Miss Jane White, Miss Evelyn Preston, sister of the bridegroom, and the Misses Priscilla and Phyllis Baldwin, sisters of the bride, were dressed in autumn shades of brown and yellow trimmed with bands of fur. Their hats combined the shades of henna and golden brown and they carried clusters of dahlias, yellow orchids and autumn leaves. Jane Baldwin, the young sister of the bride, was a flower girl in front of golden brown silks and gold.

Mr. Jerome Preston was best man for his brother. The ushers were Misses Francis C. Cabot, Jr.; Henry D. Cabot, Jr.; Charles Higgins and Homer Sweetser of Boston and Harrison P.
